

Contents

CHAPTER ONE PART 1

| | |
|---|----------|
| The power of marketing – effectiveness is more important than efficiency | 2 |
| Synopsis | 2 |
| Introduction | 2 |
| Strategic focus | 3 |
| Introducing the product life cycle (PLC) | 5 |
| Strategic focus and the product life cycle | 9 |
| Relative potency | 10 |
| The effectiveness/efficiency grid | 13 |
| Activity No. 1 | 18 |

CHAPTER ONE PART 2

| | |
|--|-----------|
| The power of marketing – the law of supply and demand | 22 |
| Synopsis | 22 |
| Introduction | 22 |
| The basic link in the chain | 23 |
| Hard/sellers markets | 24 |
| Surviving oversupply | 32 |
| The marketing concept introduced | 33 |

CHAPTER TWO

| | |
|---------------------------------------|-----------|
| How marketing works | 38 |
| Synopsis | 38 |
| Introduction | 38 |
| Specific group of customers | 40 |
| Dialogue over time | 49 |
| Customer's needs, understood in depth | 52 |

| | |
|--|----|
| Activity No. 2 | 57 |
| The competitive differential advantage | 58 |
| How to develop competitive advantage | 62 |
| Activity No. 3 | 64 |
| Marketing planning | 65 |

CHAPTER THREE

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Introducing the new marketing mix: the marketing tools (the four or five P's) | 68 |
| Introduction | 68 |
| Segmentation | 70 |
| Segment strategy approaches | 73 |
| How to segment | 75 |
| The process | 76 |
| Segmenting for services | 82 |
| Segmenting for an IT related market | 83 |
| Segmentation principles | 87 |
| Market selection (i.e. 'targeting') | 87 |
| How competitive will the company be in the new market? | 89 |
| Activity No. 4 | 93 |
| Competitive product positioning | 95 |
| Activity No. 5 | 101 |
| Exercise – your positioning | 102 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART 1

| | |
|--|------------|
| The marketing mix – the 'product' | 104 |
| What 'products' are | 104 |
| The total product concept | 106 |
| Activity No. 6 | 112 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART 2

The marketing mix – distribution

– ‘Your route to market’ 116

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | 116 |
| Background | 116 |
| The environmental dimension | 117 |
| The structural dimension | 117 |
| Functions of the ‘route to market’ | 119 |
| Using intermediaries: advantages and disadvantages | 122 |
| Managing the distribution channel | 124 |
| Power in the chain | 127 |
| Exercise | 133 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART 3

The marketing mix – marketing communications and promotion (marcomms) 136

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | 136 |
| Understanding marketing communications | 136 |
| Public relations and editorial publicity (PR & EP) | 139 |
| The role of advertising and promotion | 140 |
| Activity No. 7 | 144 |
| The campaign design process | 146 |
| Creative execution/treatment | 162 |
| Testing the execution | 164 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART 4

The marketing mix – marketing pricing 168

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | 168 |
| Internal accounting based pricing | 168 |
| Product life cycle and price | 181 |
| ‘Value based’ pricing | 185 |
| Some useful marketing pricing strategies | 189 |
| Profit centre | 194 |

CHAPTER FIVE

The marketing plan 196

| | |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| Introduction | 196 |
| The plan as a working document | 196 |
| The plan as a learning process | 197 |
| The marketing programme | 202 |
| The plan's main headings | 213 |
| The marketing audit | 215 |
| The action plan | 216 |
| The marketing programme | 222 |
| The control mechanisms | 222 |
| Building the budget | 223 |
| Action checklist | 226 |

CHAPTER SIX

The marketing audit – deriving foundations for a marketing strategy 230

| | |
|---|-----|
| Synopsis | 230 |
| Introduction | 231 |
| The shock of change | 233 |
| Geography | 235 |
| Technological innovation – (the 'T' in G.p.l.e.e.s.t) | 235 |
| The structure of society – (the 'S' in G.P.l.e.e.s.t) | 237 |
| Political issues = government and legislation | 241 |
| The implications of cycles and change | 243 |
| Format for recording the macro analysis | 243 |
| Activity No. 8 | 246 |
| Identifying the competition | 246 |
| Analyzing sales and marketing competency | 253 |
| Marketing assets and liabilities | 259 |
| Activity No. 9 | 265 |
| A competitor's company analysis checklist | 265 |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Activity No. 10 | 267 |
| Our company analysis checklist | 267 |
| Specific to the competition | 268 |
| Activity No. 11 | 271 |
| 'Good' and 'bad' competitors | 271 |
| In summary | 272 |
| | |
| CHAPTER SEVEN | |
| Getting the feedback | 274 |
| Synopsis | 274 |
| Introduction | 274 |
| Types of information | 275 |
| Secondary data via desk research | 275 |
| Primary information via field research | 278 |
| Qualitative research | 280 |
| Quantitative research | 283 |
| Market/customer information systems | 284 |
| The MIS/CIS tools | 287 |
| Market/ing research (some critical issues) | 291 |
| The research budget | 295 |
| The research brief | 296 |
| The proposal | 299 |
| | |
| APPENDIX | |
| Workbook: Planning a campaign | 307 |
| I Objectives | 308 |
| II Strategies | 310 |
| | |
| Index | 319 |

List of illustrations

CHAPTER ONE PART 1

| | | |
|------|--|----|
| 1.1: | An organogram created from the company's three options | 3 |
| 1.2: | A stylized 'PLC' | 5 |
| 1.3: | Strategic focus – managing the product/s | 9 |
| 1.4: | Relative potency | 11 |
| 1.5: | Effectiveness – efficiency grid | 14 |

CHAPTER ONE PART 2

| | | |
|-------|--------------------------------|----|
| 1.6: | The essential dynamic | 23 |
| 1.7: | Law of supply and demand, pt1 | 26 |
| 1.8: | Creating competition | 27 |
| 1.9: | Law of supply and demand, pt 2 | 28 |
| 1.10: | Law of supply and demand, pt 3 | 29 |
| 1.11: | Law of supply and demand, pt 4 | 31 |
| 1.12: | Law of supply and demand, pt 5 | 32 |

CHAPTER TWO

| | | |
|------|--|----|
| 2.1: | Fictional organizational chart | 49 |
| 2.2: | The marketing cycle | 49 |
| 2.3: | Maslow's hierarchy of needs | 53 |
| 2.4: | Categorise your customers' needs | 58 |
| 2.5: | How do I compare versus the competition? | 64 |

CHAPTER THREE

| | | |
|------|---------------------------|----|
| 3.1: | Segment variants | 72 |
| 3.2: | Undifferentiated strategy | 73 |
| 3.3: | Concentration strategy | 74 |
| 3.4: | Differentiated strategy | 75 |

| | | |
|-------|--|----|
| 3.5: | Segmenting a market | 76 |
| 3.6: | Technology adoption curve – as a psychographic segmentation base | 83 |
| 3.7a: | Strategy for crossing the chasm | 85 |
| 3.7b: | Strategy for crossing the chasm | 86 |
| 3.8: | A hypothetical positioning map | 97 |
| 3.9: | Hypothetical spidergram positioning map | 98 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART ONE

| | | |
|------|----------------------|-----|
| 4.1: | The Levitt Construct | 106 |
|------|----------------------|-----|

CHAPTER FOUR PART TWO

| | | |
|------|---------------------------------------|-----|
| 4.2: | A channel ‘push’ strategy | 124 |
| 4.3: | A channel ‘pull’ strategy | 124 |
| 4.4: | An orderly market – (to begin with) | 131 |
| 4.5: | The ‘channel’ becomes the competition | 132 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART THREE

| | | |
|-------|---|-----|
| 4.6: | The ‘D.A.G.M.A.R’ model | 138 |
| 4.7: | Customer benefits – your company’s performance analysis | 145 |
| 4.8: | Building a campaign | 147 |
| 4.9: | The campaign’s foundation stones | 148 |
| 4.10: | Part of any business cycle or product life cycle | 152 |
| 4.11: | The target group | 154 |
| 4.12: | Defining the target group | 155 |
| 4.13: | The sequence | 158 |
| 4.14: | The campaign | 166 |

CHAPTER FOUR PART FOUR

| | | |
|-------|--|-----|
| 4.15: | Simple break-even | 171 |
| 4.16: | Spreading the unspreadable (I) | 172 |
| 4.17: | Spreading the unspreadable (II) | 172 |
| 4.18: | Break-even for marginal pricing | 174 |
| 4.19: | Where the ratio of overhead to variable cost is high | 176 |

| | | |
|-------|---|-----|
| 4.20: | Where the ratio of overhead to variable cost is low | 177 |
| 4.21: | Pricing strategy for high overheads/variable cost ratios (e.g. for airlines and trainers) | 178 |
| 4.22: | Product life cycle showing investment and competition | 181 |
| 4.23: | Product life cycle showing a 'skimming' price and effect on profit | 183 |
| 4.24: | Product life cycle showing the effect of a 'barrier' price | 184 |
| 4.25: | Perception of value | 186 |
| 4.26: | The principle of conjoint (trade-off) analysis | 186 |

CHAPTER FIVE

| | | |
|-------|--|-----|
| 5.1: | The hierarchy of planning | 198 |
| 5.2: | The hierarchy of planning | 199 |
| 5.3: | The hierarchy of planning | 200 |
| 5.4: | The programme formulation stage | 200 |
| 5.5: | The context of strategy | 201 |
| 5.6: | Outline marketing programme (or action plan) | 203 |
| 5.7: | The marketing planning thought process | 208 |
| 5.8: | The options when taking on the competition | 209 |
| 5.9: | The headings of a marketing plan | 214 |
| 5.10: | The Ansoff Analysis Grid | 217 |
| 5.11: | After 'Profitable Product Management' R. Collier | 225 |

CHAPTER SIX

| | | |
|------|---------------------------------------|-----|
| 6.1: | The strategic triangle | 232 |
| 6.2: | Technological innovation | 235 |
| 6.3: | The structure of society | 237 |
| 6.4: | Government – a major engine of change | 241 |
| 6.5: | Analyzing segment macro environments | 244 |
| 6.6: | Micro analysis | 247 |
| 6.7: | Analyzing segment structural forces | 249 |
| 6.8: | Rationale for SWOT analysis | 250 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 6.9: Porter's five competency factors analyzing strengths and weaknesses | 251 |
| 6.10: Company analysis checklist for strengths and weaknesses | 258 |
| 6.11a: Marketing assets | 260 |
| 6.11b: Marketing assets | 262 |
| 6.11c: Marketing assets | 263 |
| 6.12: A marketing assets and liabilities audit matrix | 264 |
| 6.13: Assessing a competitor | 269 |
| 6.14: 'Good' and 'bad' competitors | 269 |

CHAPTER SEVEN

| | |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| 7.1: The information matrix | 275 |
|-----------------------------|-----|