

CONTENTS

1	The lovely Lark – Suffolk’s gentle river	1
2	Suffolk castles – strongholds of the Normans	15
3	Suffolk’s glorious Guildhalls	27
4	Suffolk’s Abbeys – on the way to God	39
5	The Upper Stour – a painter’s paradise	49
6	The Lower Stour – Constable country	61
7	White sails in the sunset	71
8	Along the Waveney	81
9	Suffolk’s glorious churches	91
10	Rings of still waters	101
11	Drifting down the Deben	113
12	Heritage Ipswich	123
13	Bridging the gap	133
14	The Orwell – a sailor’s river	143
15	Red sails on the Orwell	153
16	The Suffolk shore	163
17	Summer showtime	173
	Tourist Information Offices in Suffolk	185

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Chapter one

Nowton Park, a golden river of daffodils	1
The idyllic Lark as it flows through the Abbey Gardens in Bury St. Edmunds	2
St. Edmund, the martyr, in the Abbey Gardens	4
The magnificent grecian frontage of Bury's Corn Exchange	6
Bury St. Edmunds, the splendid spire of St. John's Church	8
The rotunda of Ickworth House	9
The re-created Anglo-Saxon village at West Stow	11
Mildenhall, an attractive Suffolk market town	12

Chapter two

At Framlingham Castle, the musketeers and pikemen of the English Civil War Society re-create the mutiny of 1648	15
Eye Church and Guildhall, overlooked by the castle walls	18
The mighty walls of Framlingham Castle	21
The splendid keep of Orford Castle	22
The walls of Bungay Castle, decked out for carnival week	24
Archers demonstrate their skills at Bungay Castle	26

Chapter three

Lavenham, the corner post of the Guildhall of Corpus Christi, with the carving of the fifteenth Earl of Oxford	27
Lavenham, the mediaeval frontage of Water Street	28
The Guildhall of Corpus Christi at Lavenham	31
Lavenham, the Guildhall of Our Lady, which is now part of the Swan Hotel	32
The Guildhall at Hadleigh	33
Eye, the Guildhall	34
The Guildhall, which is now three separate dwellings, and the porch of St. Mary's Church at Stoke by Nayland	36

Chapter four

Leiston Abbey, looking into the site of the high altar	39
The Abbeygate, Bury St. Edmunds most famous landmark, and now the main entrance to the Abbey gardens and ruins	40
Massive, eroded flint columns mark the site of the high altar in the Abbey ruins at Bury St. Edmunds	41
Gravestones and ruined walls at Leiston Abbey	43
Arches in stone endure at Leiston Abbey	44
Lavenham Priory, once a 13th century open hall house, now offers award-winning B&B accommodation	46
The Priory church at Clare	47

Chapter five

Cattle graze the water meadows at Sudbury	49
The clock tower at Newmarket	51
Cavendish, Suffolk pink thatched cottages and St. Mary's church tower	53
Long Melford's Holy Trinity Church	55
Kentwell Hall, reflected in its placid lake	57
Gainsborough's statue, overlooking the market square in the heart of Sudbury	58
Fishermen line the banks of the Stour beside the Sudbury Water Mill, now a first class hotel	59

Chapter six

A popular bathing spot beside the new bridge at Bures	61
Bures, a charming Suffolk village on the Stour	62
Willy Lott's cottage, without the Haywain	64
A pastoral scene by the Stour	65
At Shotley a modern marina now overlooks the meeting of the Orwell and the Stour	68

Chapter seven

The fantail of Saxstead Post Mill	71
The grain chute and grinding stones inside Bardwell windmill	74
Stanton windmill, two of its four sails were down for painting and repair	75
Thelnetham windmill, one of the few which still produces flour	76
Suffolk's famous House in the Clouds was once a water tower, served by Thorpness Post Mill which acted as its windpump	78
Woodbridge Tide Mill, unique of its kind in Suffolk	79

Chapter eight

The Waveny at Beccles	81
The Waveney near Hoxne, a pastoral scene	83
Bungay churches, red-brick St. Edmunds and the tall tower of St. Mary's	84
Beccles, St. Michael and All Angels and the town centre	86
The charming village green at Somerleyton	87
Lowestoft harbour, pleasure boats to the fore, oil rig supply vessels in the background	89

Chapter nine

Blythburgh Church towers above the coastal marshes	91
Fornham All Saints – The heart of Suffolk, a village green, a thatched cottage and the village church	92
The interior of St. Mary's Church, looking from the nave through to the chancel and the sanctuary	94
St. Mary's Church, the nativity in glorious stained glass	95
Holy Trinity at Long Melford, one of our huge wool churches	96
All Saints at Ixworth Thorpe, with its wooden bell tower and thatched roof	99
St. Mary's at Rickinghall, a lovely example of one of our round tower Saxon churches	100

Chapter ten

Framlingham Mere, in the 14th century it was the Great Lake below the castle	101
Magnificent Tannington Hall, which has been described as 'Georgianised', but with huge Elizabethan chimneys	103
Horse-drawn carriages at Grange Farm, Dennington	105
The quiet lanes of central Suffolk are the ideal place to enjoy a horse and carriage ride	106
South Elmham Hall, where the bishops of Norwich once held court and entertained	108

Chapter eleven

Throughout Regatta day the passenger ferry was busy giving free trips across the harbour	113
Debenham's charming semi-mediaeval high street	114
A fairy-tale image, one of the circular thatched cottages at Easton	116
Behind the Shire Hall at Woodbridge this elegant spired gothic canopy shelters the old town water pump and drinking trough	117
The half-size replica of the Sutton Hoo longship pulls past the Tide Mill	118
The Thames sailing barge Thalatta, one of the main attractions at the Woodbridge Regatta	120

Chapter twelve

St. Stephen's Church, now the Tourist Information Centre	123
The old post office	125
Ipswich Town Hall	126
The ancient house in the Buttermarket	129
The Old Custom House and Contship HQ	129
Ancient houses on the corner of Silent Street	130
Soaring escalators inside the Willis Corroon offices	131

Chapter thirteen

Massive white columns carry Suffolk's most modern bridge over the Orwell	133
The mediaeval packhorse bridge at Moulton	134
Goldbrook Bridge at Hoxne, where St. Edmund is said to have been captured by the Danes	136
The community centre at Hoxne, where the statue of St. Edmund stands over a roundel depicting his attempt to hide under the nearby bridge	137
The Abbeygate Bridge in Bury St. Edmunds	138
Swans preen themselves beside the Orwell Bridge	139
The Kersey Splash, not quite a river, and not even a bridge, but the most photographed water crossing in Suffolk	141

Chapter fourteen

Ancient wrecks and shoreline houseboats are all part of the unique charm that is Pin Mill	143
At Pin Mill houseboats line the shore under sheltering trees	144
The popular Butt and Oyster Inn at Pin Mill	146
An old anchor, chains and rusting barge hulks, all part of the shipyard charm of Pin Mill	148
In the Dawn light the annual Pin Mill Sailing Club Barge Match is underway	150
Woolverstone Marina, home of the Royal Harwich Yacht Club	151

Chapter fifteen

Reminder , built of steel by Horlocks of Mistley in 1929, started her racing record by winning both the Thames and Medway matches in the same year	153
The Class B staysails making way downriver	155
Phoenician , Cabby and Marjorie , all battling for the wind	156
The Marjorie , a familiar barge on the Orwell, once skippered by the now Officer of the Day, Mick Lungley	158
May, on the home run, passing Pin Mill	160

Chapter sixteen

Once the tall ships came to Ipswich	163
Lowestoft harbour, with the lifeboat and the Lydia Eva , the last of the old east coast steam drifters	164
Walberswicke, still a picturesque harbour for small craft	167
Fishing boats on the shingle, all that remains of maritime Aldeburgh	170
Woodbridge, still a busy little harbour	172

Chapter seventeen

Vintage tractors on parade at Euston Hall	173
Suffolk Morris with Gyppeswyck Garland	175
Dray horses are a magnificent sight at any agricultural show	176
At Euston Fair, craftsman Joe Berens demonstrates the art of making hurdles	178
Steam engines are a popular sight at agricultural shows	179
At Westleton the barrel racing is open to all, here a girl leads the field of boys in one of the junior races	181
The magical, musical nightglow Finale at the Bury St. Edmunds Balloon Festival	183